This volume focuses on key issues concerning the regulation of personal care products. The Office of Cosmetics and Colors within the United States Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulates personal care cosmetic products. Safety issues remain paramount especially with ingredients used and harmonization of ingredient nomenclature. Issues related to harmonization, such as varied regulatory rules, remain complicated. For example, only colors approved for use in the United States are permitted in personal care products and safety substantiation is required. The focus of this volume is to:

Discuss the regulatory authority of FDA over personal care cosmetic products.

Explain issues involved in product classification.

Detail specific terminology related to personal care products.

Provide information on the cosmetic registration program.
